CROP REPORT OF JUNE 1.

The prolonged and excessive wet weather throughout May has retarded the planting of crops. With twenty-two days of rain in May preparation of the soil for the planting of crops has been next to impossible. Wheat is somewhat damaged and not as high a yield is expected as the early conditions warranted. However, the condition as a State average is 94 per cent, which is 5 per cent less than this time last year. Rye shows up somewhat better with a condition of 97 per cent as compared with 99 per cent in 1918. Barley is an exceptionally small crop in this State and but few reports are made on same. Condition is given at 95 per cent.

Anticipated acreage of corn is given at 98 per cent. Owing to the continued cold and wet weather, the preparation of the ground was greatly delayed and the condition of the ground as of June 1st was 75 per cent. It is estimated that 51 per cent of planting of corn has been completed, but some ground remains yet unbroken. Condition of growing corn is 72 per cent. Some replanting of early corn will be necessary in many localities.

Oats acreage is estimated at 91 per cent, which is 6 per cent lower than last year, while condition is shown at 95 per cent. Hemp acreage has fallen low with practically only about one-tenth of reports coming in on this crop as is customary. The few reports coming, give the acreage at 41 per cent, with its condition at 92. The estimated acreage planned of burley tobacco is 97 per cent, which is 5 per cent less than last year's estimate. Condition of plants is 88 per cent.

OLD AND NEW BATTLE NAMES

Hard to Bestow Appropriate Appellations Upon Conflicts Having Wide Fronts.

There seems to have been little trouble in the past in naming battles, although even Waterloo is called Quatre Bras by the French. But on the whole a name seems to have attached itself to a battle quite naturally, like Blenheim, Talavera, Jena, Leipzig, the Nile and Trafalgar.

But in the great war, where a battle extended over weeks of time over a forty-mile front, including many villages, and sometimes several objectives in the shape of big towns, the difficulty of naming a battle with a name that is universally recognized is extreme.

The names which have actually settled down completely and taken their places in history are the battle of the Marne, the two battles of Ypres, the battle of Verdun, the battle of the Bight, the battle of Jutland, the battle of the Somme, and that seems almost all.

The battles of the later phases of the war have hardly settled down to a name yet. Probably the battle in which the Vimy ridge was stormed will be known as Arras; but the battle of Messines will probably be a stickler, just as the Chemin des Dames will live in French annals for all times.

Perhaps the great battle which at the time seemed disastrous to British arms, commencing on March 21, 1918, will go down to history as the battle of Amiens, while the battle of Cambrai may stand for all that heroic recovery which brought the British to their final victory.

GOT WEARY OF "FLU" TALK

Visitor to Indianapolis Very Much Fed Up With Conversation Relating to the Epidemic.

L. B. Andrus of Grand Rapids, Mich., chief of the Merchants Heat and Light company, is laboring under the impression that some "Hoosier jinx" was trailing him Wednesday evening.

While taking dinner at a hotel he was surrounded by delegates to the casket manufacturers' convention. After hearing them discuss their business, which discussion naturally had many references to the influenza epidemic, he concluded it was no place for him.

As the evening rolled on, he began debating with himself the question whether the epidemic was going to get him, so he decided to take a Turkish bath. He had only been there a short time when a sick-looking individual came in, and in a conversation with Mr. Andrus said that he had only recently got over a severe case of the influenza, and he had been advised that a Turkish bath would get the poison out of his system and assist him to recover more rapidly.

When he was talking with this man, another man came in sneezing and coughing and inquired of Mr. Andrus whether he thought a Turkish bath would prevent a fellow from getting a bad case of the influenza.

By this time Andrus said to the attendant: "Get me out of here as quickly as possible. I have given about as much time as I care to presiding at the flu conference in Indianapolis."—Indianapolis News.

President to Get Rare Book.

An ancient book has been sent to President Wilson by Postmaster General Tordoff of Florence who is a collector of rare manuscripts. The book is a rare edition of the life of Christopher Columbus and was written by Fernandez, a son of the discoverer of America, and was published at Venice in 1571. Plans had been made to have the book presented to President Wilson on Columbus day.

Wonder What Poe Got for It.

Quite a while ago an author, Edgar Allan Poe, contributed a story to Graham's Library of Fiction, No. 1. But it hardly occurred to him that some day a collector would pick up an old copy of that periodical for 25 cents and presently sell it to somebody else for $1,000. Probably it is just as well that it did not, for the knowledge might have discontented him with his own modest emolument for writing a classic.

$216 for a Thackeray Letter.

A sale of autographs and manuscripts was held at New York recently. Charles Scribner's Sons paid the top price, $216, for catalogue No. 234, a letter of William M. Thackeray to John Oxenford, asking him to come to a dinner in celebration of the completion of "Vanity Fair." The total for the sale was $2,752.45.

The Lives of a Cat.

A mother had two sons, one in France, the other attending a university near home. The son in France was wounded and naturally the mother felt grieved over the incident, and being of an excitable nature, telephoned her other son: "John, come home at once. Ted is at the front being killed every minute."

Unreadable Signatures.

General Pershing recently gave orders that the typewriter signature is required hereafter on all official orders and indorsements by American military men in France because of the fact so many officers write their names "so blindly that it is difficult to make them out." General Pershing purposes to waste no time in deciphering written signatures.

CAMP ROOSEVELT THE IDEAL SUMMER RESORT.

Boys from Paris will be invited to a Reserve Officers' Training Camp on Lake Michigan this summer. The encampment has been named Camp Roosevelt, as a living memorial to the dead statesman, and 15,000 men and boys will be given a period of intensive military-physical-educational training there between July 6 and August 31. Captain F. L. Beals of the United States Army will be the commanding officer.

Camp Roosevelt is being established at Muskegon, Michigan, as a training place for the Chicago High School boys who are in the Reserve Officers' Training Corps, but it is not necessary to be from Chicago or to have had previous military training to be a Camp Roosevelter. It will be an all-age, all-American camp, open to recruits between the ages of 12 and 45.

The military training will include drills, machine gun practice, ground aviation, radio instruction and other military features. The physical training will include calisthenics, baseball, tennis, golf, swimming, rowing and hiking. The educational training will be under the direction of Chicago High School subjects. This feature is optional with the recruit.

Camp Roosevelt is not a profit-making institution. It is being financed by a committee of patriotic Chicago citizens who believe that it may pave the way to a program of national preparedness at all times. The charge, as far as the recruit is concerned, is only $1.00 per day to cover subsistence and equipment, instruction and a tent to sleep in. Recruits can arrange for two, four, six or eight weeks of training as desired.

Camp Roosevelt will be under strict military discipline and the commanding officers will have complete charge of all added features of training.

So many inquiries are coming in regarding the camp that it has become necessary to establish executive headquarters at 21 N. La Salle street, Chicago, from which full information may be secured upon request.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

By local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of Catarrh Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Drug-gists, 75c.

A handsome pure-bred gilt was used for display advertising in a show window on the main street of Lawrenceburg, Ky., this spring. The County Agent, who was boosting the membership in the Boys' and Girls' Agricultural Clubs, told your correspondent when asked about the display, "The pig attracted much attention and created very favorable comment. Three boys joined the club and purchased pure-bred pigs as a result of this publicity."
